POINTS IN NEW RULES. The More They are Studied, the Better They Suit. 7.

There is one point in the new base ball rules that has evidently been overlooked by the critics, and it is rather strange that some of them have not expatlated on the subject after the persistent howl they made for the abolishing of the bunt and sacrifice hitting. While the rule committee did not say anything about and sacrince mitting. While the rule committee did not say anything about bunting or sacrifice hitting, if the new balk rule is strictly enforced, as is expected, it will do away with sacrifice hitting to a great extent and leave the bunting for those speedy men who have a chance to beat out a "dump", and who keep the infielders guessing by their tricky work on the inside. Free hitting is what a crowd likes to see, but there is no doubt that the spectators also enjoy such a scientific exhibition as is given by men who can drop the ball down within a few feet of the plate and then safely reach the first corner.

When you come to think of it, the liberties allowed the pitchers in the way of feinting, bluffing, and fussing to worry the base runner is what formed the specifice hitting game. In the old days when the pitcher was in a box and was obliged to step outside the lines of his position to throw to a base, it was easier to purloin a sack, but with the advent of the pitcher's slab, the funny work commenced and the base runners have been guessing ever since. There seems to be no loopholes through which the twirlers can escape as the rule now reads, thus giving the runner a chance have been guessing ever since. There seems to be no loopholes through which the twirlers can escape as the rule now reads, thus giving the runner a chance to get a good lead, and it is generally admitted that base running will be greatly increased. Such being the case, the sacrifice will be done away with to a certain extent, especially on teams that have steady men. Instead of reaching first base and hugging that sack until the next man advances him by the bunting process, the runner will now be instructed to take a chance on reaching the half-way station unassisted. The batter may help him along to the extent of striking wildly at the ball pitched merely for the sake of worrying the catcher as much as possible, but the bunt will not be attempted and if the runner lands safely at second base the batter can take a "swipe" at the next good one, in the expectation of driving out a clean hit and thus sending the man on base across the plate with a run.

The more the new rules are studled man on base across the plate with a run.

The more the new rules are studled the better satisfaction they give in the majority of instances, and the balk rule especially will fill a long felt want. It will not only reduce sacrifice hitting to a minimum and increase base running, but will shorten the games, as much valuable time is wasted by pitchers that continually fiddle and fuss around with men on the bases. It should increase hitting, thus adding to the fielding features of the game, and best of all, it will give the poor umpire a show for his white alley, as the rule is now worded so plainly that there is nothing to do but call a balk any time a motion is made and the ball is not delivered to the bassman or to the bassman.

THE INDUSTRIES.

The management of the Aeina-Standard mill, of the National Steel Com-pany, has made a voluntary increase of ten per cent per day in the wages of laborers, and notices to that effect were posted yesterday. The advance will apply to all workmen who have heretofore received between $1 25 and $2 50 per day, excepting those who labor un-der contract and the tonnage men While the advance is not a particularly large one, it shows the disposition of the management toward its men, and being entirely unexpected by them they were agreeably surprised and are cor-respondingly happy. The increase, ac cording to the notices posted, went into effect April 1.

The Lumber Dealers

A special meeting of the board of difectors of the Union Association of Lumber Dealers is being held at Pitts-burgh, for the purpose of hearing cases against wholesale dealers who are al-legd to have infringed upon retailers by selling direct to consumers. At the session yesterday morning four cases were heard against wholesale dealers in this district. An attempt was made to have Cincinnail declared n wholesale market, but it was stated by a mem-ber of the board that the motion would be voted down. A fine of 10 per cent on the amount of the sale is imposed upon dealers for infringement, and in case this is not paid within an appointed time his name is placed upon the "black list." The officers of the asso-ciation are: E. M. Holliday. Wheeling, W. Va., president; J. Wilson. Wapako-nea, Ohlo, vice president; William Ah-lers, Allegheny, Pa., secretary; F. D. Torrance, Xenia, Ohio, treasurer. Lumber Dealers is being held at Pitts-

The Iron Market.

The market during the last week settled down to something like steadiness and business for the second half of the year has started off at a good pace at figures that should make profitable trading for everybody, says the current is use of the Ohio Valley Manufacturie. It is settled that Bessemer pig is to be held firmly at $14.50 at furnace, and sales are being made at that figure. Practically no material until July 1 is obtainable. The combination companies have their systems organized fairly well, and will shortly again quote prices for the general market. Quotations have been organized, although contracts that were booked by the concerns that were fedrated have been filled as per terms.

Billets are to sell at $21 to $22 at mill from June 30 to December: sheet bars at $22 to $23; bar from at $30 to $32. Tin piate will be pitched on a $4 base.

The ore producing and metal manufacturing industries are now practically federated, the Independent concerns working in harmony, and the marketa are in the control of strong hands, and there are evidences of being directed by sane minds. This may be expected to develop some changes in the system of doing business but change is generally in the direction of improvement rather than the reverse. Quotations for near delivery are useless, for there is no material for sale.

The copper, spelter and lead producing concerns are in process of completing a federation, but announcement is made that fluctuations will be narrower and prices stender. This will favor future contracts by users, who will therefore be enabled to do business on a more certain basis if not on a narrower margin in empetition.

Calico Warks to Move.

The calico printing concern of J. L. Stifel & Sons, now situated at 900 Main street, is to seek a location for a larger plant. The firm for several years has been reported as desirous of more ground on which to erect a larger plant and it was rumpred for a time that the firm had selected a lot on the Peninsula. But it is definitely decided now that the old Bell property, on North Main street, will be the factory's future address.

The plans for the new factory are now being drafted by Architect H. E. Forney, and they call for a brick building, 200 by 150 feet in dimensions, which predicts a large structure. It will be of brick, and the contract is to be awarded in the near future. This firm enjoys a trade second to none in the calico printing business, and following the erection of its new factory, the Messrs, Stifel will put in a lot of new machinery, practically doubling the capacity.

Building Notes.

Bids will soon be received for the im provements at the McLure house. It is said the plans will be changed if the bids are higher than the amount of money the McLures think of expending on the improvements. It is thought the contemplated improvements can be made for about $40,000.

Fahey Brothers, of the South SNe, have captured the St. Joseph's Academy building contract, with the exception of the painting, glazing, plumbing and heating. It is said the new building complete will cost about $30,000. The plans were by Architect Heckert, of Pittsburgh, and call for a structure of stone and brick, four stories in height, and will contain eleven class rooms, four music rooms, library, studio and a large music hall.

It is said nearly seventy dwellings communities out the pike this summer.

Pittsburgh River News.

PITTSBURGH, April 6.-The action of the government in the Bellaire bridge case was the outcome of the recommendation of a board of engineers who investigated the condition of the bridge plers, reporting them as obstructions. It is expected that similar proceedings will be commenced against the owners of the Pan-Handle railroad bridge, at Steubenville. Captain John F. Dravo, secretary of the coal exchange, when seen to-day, said he was pleased to learn of the action taken by the government, and he hoped the bridge at Bellair; would be reconstructed to conform to the requirements of navigation at that place. The Tenth and Try street bridges will have to be altered to meet the demands of navigation. The city is preparing to remodel the Tenth street bridges in the fourth pool to bring loaded coalboats to Pittsburgh, but boats are being dropped into the harbor from the second pool.

Mrs. Phillips says that the Pittsburgh was the smoothest-running side-wheel river packet she was ever on, and Captain Phillips was more than pleased with the boat. She said that experienced steamboatmen at Checincinnati said that the Pittsburgh was the finest equipped boat they ever saw. Mrs. Phillips said that the boat attracted more attention there than any boat that ever landed at the Cincinnati wharf. The Pittsburgh should be at Vicksburg, Miss., some time to-day. The boat is ahead of her schedule time.

who had suffered to my knowledge, for years with dyspepsia. Everything he ate seemed to sour and create gases in the stomach; he had pains like rheumatism in the back, shoulder bindes and limbs, fullness and distress after eating, poor appetite and loss of flesh; the heart became affected, causing palpitation and sleeplessness at night.

I gave him powerful nerve tonics and

I gave him powerful nerve tonics and blood remedies, but to no purpose. As an experiment I finally bought a fifty cent package of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at a drug store and gave them to him. Almost immediate relief was given and after he had used four boxes he was to all appearances, fully cured.

There was no more acidity or sour watery risings, no bloating after meals, the appetite was vigorous and he has gained between ten and twelve pounds in weight of solid, healthy flesh.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are advertised and sold in drug stores, yet I consider them a most valuable addition to any physician's line of remedies, as they are perfectly harmless and

WINTER WHEAT.

Percentage of Damage Done by Unseasonable Weather.

CHICAGO, April 6.—The Daily Trade Bulletin will publish to-day a summary of estimates by its correspondents on the area seeded to winter wheat, and the area seeded to winter wheat, and the percentage of damage by the unseasonable weather during the past two months. The reports show: East of the Allegheny mountains, the damage was slight, as the crop was fairly, well protected by snow. The same is true of Chio and Michigan. In Indiana, considerable damage is reported, while in Southern Illinois the outlook is very unfavorable. In Missouri, considerable damage has been sustained. Reports from Kansas are decidedly unfavorable, and the loss in that state is quite serious. In Texas also, the damage is larger than generally anticipated. In the northern part of Kentucky the crop is in rather good condition, but in the southern part of the state, and in Tennessee, rather good condition, but in the southern part of the state, and in Tennessee, the severe winter weather made introads on the growing crop. In Iowa the loss is fairly large, and in Nebraska the outlook is decidedly discouraging. In Wisconsin the damage was rather serious. In California, the prospects are excellent. A summary of the reports in conjunction with late state reports, indicate that the condition of the winter wheat crop of the United States is not to exceed 75, which, even on the increased acreage, would not produce to exceed 25,000,000 lushels to 220,000,000 lushels, or 20,000,000 less than last year. States east of the Rocky mountains will probably show a shortage of trins will probably show a shortage of 35,099,000 to 40,000,000 bushels at present outlook, which will be partly reduced by the increased production in California. Seeding of spring wheat is decidedly backward in Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, South Dakota, North Dakota, and in the Rocky mountain districts, and the outlook favors a decreased Never Took the Picture.
